KRS water level crosses 104 ft.

Dam can reach 124.80 feet in 10 days if daily inflow of 50,000 cusecs is maintained

Srirangapatna, July 26 (Vinay Karekura&BCT)- Water level at the KRS Dam in Srirangapatna Taluk breached the 100 ft. mark and touched 104.80 ft. this morning as against its maximum level of 124.80 ft.

After a delayed South West Monsoon, the Dam has been receiving heavy inflows from its catchment areas of Kodagu where the region — especially Madikeri Taluk — is witnessing heavy to very heavy rainfall causing widespread destruction.

In fact, the heavy rain that is lashing Kodagu these days has significantly bridged the earlier deficit rainfall. If the same inflow of over 50,000 cusecs per day is maintained, the Dam will reach its full capacity of 124.80 ft in over 10 days, said Dam engineers.

Combined counselling for CET, NEET students this year

Bengaluru, July 26- In a change from past practice, the Karnataka Examination Authority (KEA) will conduct a combined counselling for CET and NEET students, seeking admission to Engineering/Medical/Dental/Agriculture/Veterinary/Pharmacy/Nursing courses for the academic year 2023-2024.

Until now, there used to be separate rounds of counselling and seat allotments for the above courses. Several students used to participate in counselling for both engineering and medical seats, with some landing seats in both the disciplines. This often led to a roadblock for other eligible aspirants, leading the KEA to cancel the Engineering seats of those students who had also secured Medical seats.

KEA Executive Director S. Ramya said that the combined counselling will streamline the counselling process and eliminate undue delay in seat allotment. In the first round, the student, apart from entering only one option in the choice entry screen, will also be allowed to retain one of the allotted seats (either Engineering or Medical) and participate in the second round. In the second round of seat allotment, only one seat will be allotted out of the options entered by the candidate, Ramya said adding that if a medical seat is allotted in the second round, the student will not be eligible to participate in the mop-up round.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

We live in an ever-changing world. Some people, and they are very few, understand this change as the nature of the world, accept it and flow with it, while others complain about it, resist it, try to swim upstream and transform life into a struggle.

Those who know that the change is inevitable, they also know that the change is always happening on the periphery, the circumference, and within them they have a centre which is never changing. At that centre there is total restfulness, while on the periphery, life may appear to be very tiring and stressful. Real meditation means moving from the periphery to the innermost centre and settling into being.

There is a Zen saying: Don't just do something and sit there. This statement describes the famous Zazen meditation discipline.

Osho, the modern Zen master, explains: Zazen means just sitting and doing nothing. The first thing to do is learn sitting, a deep restfulness. Become a pool of rest, not even ripples of desire, going nowhere, no ambition — not even for God, not even for nirvana. Sit. . . not only physically — psychologically, spiritually too.

Learn to sit; that is Zazen. And rest — and fall into a deep rest, so the breathing becomes natural, the body becomes cool, all the fever of constant desire and turmoil disappears, evaporates. And then, work.

That work will have a totally different quality. It won't be out of desire; it will be your creativity. It will be because you have so much energy available that you would like to share your energy with the world, that you would like to create something, that you would like to make the world a little more beautiful, a little more blissful, a little more human.

This, indeed, is the real art of meditation — the real secret. It helps us find a centre within our own being and relax into it. And just an hour of such relaxation rejuvenates us and fills us with a tremendous amount of energy. Just one hour or even less than half an hour or 15 minutes, can refresh our being and unleash so much creativity. Those who meditate know this secret.

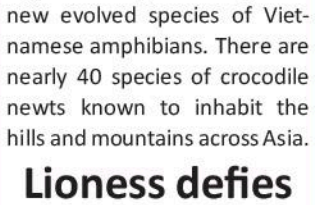
Scientists find new crocodile species



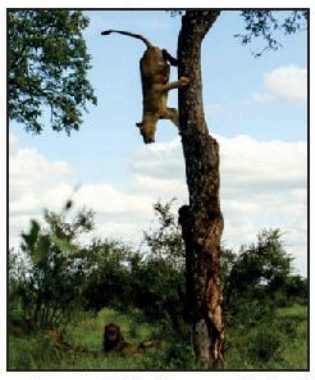
Hanoi: A new species of crocodile newt - which looks like a cross between a frog and a lizard - has been found hidden on the forest floor in the Central Highlands of Vietnam.

The peculiar-looking animal, which has been dubbed Tylototriton ngoclinhensis, appears black in colour with florescent orange spots down each side of its back. Professor Trung My Phung, researcher and study author, has described the discovery as 'exceptional'.

Scientists found the creature between 1,800 to 2,300 metres above sea level, which is an elevational record for crocodile newts, previously spotted between 250 and 1,740 metres.

The team suspect the Central Highlands may be a hotspot for new evolved species of Vietnamese amphibians. There are nearly 40 species of crocodile newts known to inhabit the hills and mountains across Asia.

Lioness defies gravity to escape lions



Kruger: This lioness climbed the highest tree around to escape the love interest of 7 male lions that were after her.

Rosa Swart, a seasoned wildlife enthusiast, had this extraordinary experience during one of her annual visits to Kruger Park. She shared her story and images with LatestSightings.com. "We had been heading south, when we approached a tall, straight tree. My eyes widened in amazement. There, perched right at the top of the tree, was a lioness. To my surprise, there were seven lions lay in wait. The lioness was in estrus and to escape the relentless males, she had taken refuge on the tree."

"After some time, the lioness became uncomfortable and agitated she eventually decided to jump down from the high tree. As soon as the lioness touched the ground, the male lions chased her."

VOICE OF THE READER

When Expressway Helpline 1033 came to my rescue

Sir,

I am writing to share my recent experience of availing the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) emergency service number '1033' on the Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway, an incident that left a lasting impression on my wife and me.

On the evening of Saturday, July 22, 2023, while driving back to Mysuru in our VW Jetta, we encountered an unfortunate situation at the entrance of the Mandya stretch of the 10-lane Expressway.

Around 6.30 pm, one of our rear wheels suffered a puncture, leaving us stranded and unable to drive any further. As the daylight started to fade and with mounting concern, I promptly called the '1033' helpline, hoping for assistance.

To our pleasant surprise, help arrived at the scene in a remarkably short span of approximately 35 minutes. The response time was impressive, considering the circumstances, and the service provided was both efficient and professional.

What touched us deeply was the courteous demeanour of the esteemed members of the emergency team. Having traversed these roads for over four decades, I had never encountered such a commendable level of assistance during an emergency.

The timely intervention by the '1033' helpline team was a true life-saver, considering the rapidly darkening conditions that evening.

My wife and I are immensely grateful to NHAI for establishing and maintaining such an excellent emergency service facility.

I believe it is crucial for all commuters to be aware of the existence of the '1033' helpline to avail of such prompt assistance when needed.

This initiative is a testament to the dedication and foresight of Union Minister Nitin Gadkari and his team at NHAI, who have worked tirelessly to ensure the safety and convenience of the road users.

Commissioning of Kesare Waste Processing Plant this week

Mysuru, July 26 (MTY&BCT)- In a significant step towards enhancing waste management practices, Mysuru is all set to witness the commencement of operations at its new state-of-the-art Waste Management Plant in Kesare. The authorities at Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) are optimistic about the positive impact the Kesare Plant will have on the city's cleanliness and environmental sustainability.

The Solid Waste Management Plant, built at a cost of Rs. 23.37 crore on an 11-acre land, boasts the capacity to recycle over 200 tonnes of dry waste per day. Initially, the Plant will operate on a trial basis, processing 50 tonnes of waste daily.

Given that Mysuru generates over 500 tonnes of solid waste each day across its 65 wards, managing this waste has been a herculean task for the MCC.

The city has faced challenges in securing the 'Cleanest City' rank in recent years due to vast mounds of legacy waste. However, with the Kesare Plant coming into operation, Mysuru aims to improve its Swachh Bharat rankings and reclaim its position as a leading clean city.

The Kesare Plant's strategic location will allow it to manage solid waste from MCC Zone 5, 7, 8 and 9, along with a portion of Zone 6, which predominantly falls under the Narasimharaja Assembly Constituency. Several areas, including Rajivnagar, N.R. Mohalla, Azeez Sait Nagar, Shanthinagar, Ghousianagar, Naidu Nagar and nearby areas, will benefit from this initiative.

To ensure a seamless operation, machines to process waste were installed a fortnight ago and personnel, including machine operators, have been appointed and trained to handle waste from the designated wards.

The MCC also conducted an orientation programme for Pourakarmikas, sanitary supervisors, and door-to-door waste collectors, emphasising the importance of collecting segregated solid and wet waste as the Kesare Plant becomes operational.

Upon the commencement of Kesare Plant's operations, waste generated under MCC Zonal Offices 7 and 8 and two wards each from Zonal Offices 5 and 9 in Narasimharaja Constituency, will be directed to Kesare.

This shift will alleviate pressure on the Solid Waste Management Unit (Excel Plant) at Sewage Farm premises in Vidyaranyapuram. As the Kesare Plant can process over 200 metric tonnes of waste, the Vidyaranyapuram Plant will be gradually closed and the more than 7 lakh tonnes of legacy waste will have to be lifted from there. Additionally, works on Solid Waste Treatment and Recycling Plant at Rayanakere are progressing and are expected to be completed within two or three months. Rayanakere Plant will have the capacity to clear 200 tonnes of waste per day and is being constructed at a cost of Rs. 9.2 crore. Kesare Plant's pivotal role in transforming city's waste management system into an efficient, scientific and environmentally friendly approach cannot be understated. It signifies a crucial step towards Mysuru rejoining other cities that have adopted the best practices in waste management.

MCC Health Panel inspects Indira Canteens

Mysuru, July 26 (SBD&BS)- Mysuru City Corporation's (MCC) Standing Committee on Public Health, Education and Social Justice visited Indira Canteens in various parts of city recently.

The inspection visit of the Members of the Standing Committee under the leadership of its Chairperson Savitha Suresh began from Indira Canteen at K.R. Hospital premises, where a check was conducted on cleanliness, drinking water system, quality and quantity of food. It was followed by a visit to the canteen at Kumbarakoppal that also has a centralised kitchen.

The Committee even visited the soon to be functional Waste Processing Unit at Kesare and inspected the equipment and obtained information about its maintenance.

To realise MCC's plans to install benches and build shelters for the benefit of patients in the premises of Cheluvamba Hospital, the Committee members inspected the place.

Savitha Suresh said that "As the economically poor patients visiting K.R. Hospital have food at the Indira Canteen in its premises, it has been instructed to maintain cleanliness and give food in adequate quantity. While at the centralised kitchen in Kumbarakoppal, several lapses came to notice. Hence it has been told to give priority to cleanliness and use quality ingredients. Women who bring their kids to Cheluvamba Hospital lack seating facility. Hence, it has been planned to build a shelter for their benefit and action will be taken in this regard."

Members of the Standing Committee C. Vedavathi, M. Satish, M. Shivakumar, Sawood Khan and Ayaz Pasha, MCC Senior Health Officer Dr. D.G. Nagaraj and others were present.

Chunchanakatte Waterfall offers breathtaking views

Mysuru, July 26 (MTY&BCT)- Nestled in the tranquil landscapes of Mysuru district, Chunchanakatte Falls, also known as Dhanushkoti Waterfall, is mesmerising tourists with its splendid views.

Located around 55 kilometres from Mysuru, this captivating waterfall near K.R. Nagar is drawing visitors from far and wide, seeking respite in the lap of nature. It offers a breathtaking view as the Cauvery River — originating from Talacauvery and before reaching the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam — plunges from a height of over 60 feet, resembling milk foam.

Heavy rainfall in Kodagu has swelled the Cauvery River, making it a magnificent sight to witness. Tourists flock to the spot to capture the magical moments on their cameras and smartphones. The cascade creates a soothing ambience, inviting visitors to immerse themselves in the enchanting aura of nature.

Though the waterfall looks enticing, it is dangerous and the local Panchayat administration has been advising the visitors to exercise caution while enjoying the falls, as the water flows with great force due to a private company's electricity production located 300 metres away from the Chunchanakatte Falls.

The administration has put in place security measures to ensure the safety of tourists. Despite the sound of sirens before water release, some have lost their lives by venturing into the sides of places where water flows at great speed. The water current is too strong and even boats get swept away due to sheer force.

'Ramayana' connection

Chunchanakatte Falls holds a significant mythological connection, with legends claiming that the Seetha Devi 'madu' (whirlpool) was a bathing spot for Seetha Devi during the Ramayana era. The story goes that while Seetha Devi bathed in this serene location, Lord Ram's brother, Lakshman, accidentally came near the place without realising her presence.

To prevent any inadvertent sightings, Seetha Devi is said to have built a protective wall with boulders around the whirlpool. Another legend says that when Lakshman entered the area, Seetha Devi walked a few steps to avoid being seen and the boulders automatically formed a protective wall around her.

The presence of the nearby Anjaneya, Kodandarama and Seetha Devi Temples adds to the sacredness of the place, attracting pilgrims seeking spiritual solace.

Statue of Anjaneyaswamy

Adding to the allure of the region, a massive 31-ft statue of Lord Anjaneyaswamy has been installed in Chunchanakatte village, crafted by the renowned sculptor Arun Yogiraj and his team from Mysuru.

This magnificent monolith stands as a symbol of reverence and devotion, drawing devotees from various parts of the country. The grand statue, made from black schist (Krishna Shile) and weighing 28 to 30 tonnes, is an architectural marvel that adds spiritual significance to the natural beauty of the region.

Chunchanakatte Falls stands as a captivating destination that showcases the beauty of nature in all its grandeur. The charm of the cascading waterfall, the sacredness of the surrounding temples and the rich cultural heritage of the locality create an unforgettable experience for every visitor.

ADGP Alok Kumar inspects traffic system, holds meeting in city

ADGP Alok Kumar (centre) holds a meeting of City Traffic Police Officers, at the Conference Hall of Police Commissioner's Office inNazarbad this afternoon as (from left) DCP (CAR) Shivaraj, City Police Commissioner B. Ramesh, DCP (Law and Order) M. Muthuraj and DCP (Crime and Traffic) S. Jahnavi look on.

Mysuru, July 26 (RK&BS)- Additional Director General of Police (ADGP) for Traffic and Road Safety Alok Kumar, addressed a meeting of Traffic Police Officers from Mysuru City, along with officers from NHAI, PWD and the Regional Transport Office (RTO) at the Conference Hall of the City Police Commissioner's Office this afternoon. City Police Commissioner Ramesh Banoth, DCPs Muthuraj and S. Jahnavi and others were present.

Yesterday, Alok Kumar had stayed overnight in the city after inspecting the Access Controlled Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway stretch at Srinivasapura in Ramanagara, and a few places in Mandya and from Siddalingapura to Manipal Hospital Junction, falling under Narasimharaja Traffic Police jurisdiction.

During the inspection, ADGP Kumar also gathered information on the rate of accidents, particularly after the Expressway's commissioning in March this year, within the Narasimharaja Traffic Police's area of responsibility.

In addition to this, he conducted an inspection of traffic signals, circles and junctions within the city without prior notification to the jurisdictional Police.

In a separate context, ADGP (Prisons) Malini Krishnamurthy is also present in the city and held a meeting with officers at the Central Prison in Mysuru.

Dial 1033 for help

Strategically positioned signboards displaying the 1033 helpline have been installed along the Expressway, especially in areas with a history of accidents. Placed in the middle of the median for easy visibility, these boards are designed to attract immediate attention.

The toll-free 1033 helpline number was initially launched by NHAI in 2018 to provide round-the-clock assistance to road users on other Highways and Expressways and it has now been extended to cover the Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway.

The helpline offers multilingual support services to road users and is integrated with other highway operations facilities, such as toll plaza ambulances, patrol vehicles and cranes, as required.

NHAI introduced this helpline in response to complaints from road users regarding the lack of road safety measures, emergency response services and information dissemination to travellers in case of issues or emergencies after toll payment on the Expressway.

The helpline can also be used to request assistance from NHAI, such as a tow truck or ambulance. To contact the helpline, simply dial 1033 from any mobile or landline phone. An NHAI operator will respond to the call and assist with the query.

Upon dialling the helpline, the caller is connected to a call centre operated by NHAI or its appointed agency. Trained personnel at the call centre address the concerns raised by callers and depending on the situation, coordinate with local authorities, including jurisdictional Police, medical teams, emergency services stationed at toll plazas or highway maintenance teams, to provide timely help to road users.

KRS water all set to be released from 40 new crest gates

Srirangapatna, July 26 (Vinay Karekura&BCT)- The replacement works of over 40 sluice/ crest gates of KRS Dam has been completed and in case the Dam fills up to the brim, water will be released from 40 new gates.

For the first time, all the 136 sluice/ crest gates out of the total 153 are being replaced. In all, there are 153 sluice gates at various levels through which water is released and in 2003, 17 sluice gates at 80 feet level were replaced as they were either corroded or damaged.

Now, authorities are taking up the replacement project where 136 gates will be replaced. The project is being taken up with the financial support of the State Government and the World Bank under Dam Rehabilitation and Improvement Project and the World Bank has released a financial aid of Rs. 69 crore.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Limited (CNNL) Assistant Executive Engineer (AEE) Abu Farooq said that 40 gates have been replaced. "We are all set to release water this year from 40 new gates. However, the process will be manual as the automatic process (SCADA system of water monitoring for real-time and live data) can be implemented only after all the 136 gates are replaced," he said.

This system, called Supervisory Control and Data Acquisition (SCADA), will monitor the inflow of water to the Dam and also outflow through each of the 158 gates. There are 17 crest gates at 80 feet level, 40 at 106 feet level, 48 at 103 feet level and another 48 gates at 114 feet level taking the total up to 153.

KRS water level crosses 104 ft.

The KRS Dam is a major source of water for irrigation and drinking water in Karnataka and Tamil Nadu, and its filling up is a welcome development, said farmers. According to available data, in May 2022, the Dam reached 100 ft. on May 11, the peak summer season and this was for the first time in 10 years that the water level stood at 100 ft during May.

However, this year in 2023, the Dam was able to reach the 100 ft. level on July 25 — a delay of 75 days — due to delayed monsoon and lack of rains. The Dam is set to fill further this year as an impressive inflow of over 51,508 cusecs (cubic foot per second) recorded this morning.

In 2023, the slow-rising water level was a matter of concern for the people living downstream as there were all indications of a drinking water crisis for Mysuru, Mandya and Bengaluru and amidst persistent demand for water release from the neighbouring Temil Nadu.

According to Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Limited (CNNL) Assistant Executive Engineer (AEE) Abu Farooq, if the same inflow of over 50,000 cusecs per day is maintained, the Dam will reach its full capacity of 124.80 ft in over 10 days.

The Dam's gross capacity is 49.45 tmcft (thousand million cubic feet) and the present storage level is 26.811 tmcft, a remarkable rise from 16.69 tmcft on July 22. The current trend of increased inflow into the KRS will likely continue as long as Kodagu continues to receive substantial rainfall, and there is a rise in discharge from the Harangi Dam.

How to use emergency call boxes on Expressway?

Mysuru journalist Suresh clicking photo of the solar-powered SOS box with an emergency call button (inside red circle) on Expressway.

Mysuru, July 26 (RK&BCT)- The NHAI has implemented a life-saving system called 'Save Our Soul' (SOS) boxes at various intervals along the Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway. These SOS boxes are powered by solar energy and serve as crucial lifelines, providing immediate assistance to those in need by connecting them with nearest Police Station and call centre.

Equipped with GPS-enabled technology and voice communication, these boxes enable direct contact with local authorities during emergency situations.

The distinctive orange colour of the SOS boxes makes them easily identifiable and their strategic placement ensures effective response to emergency incidents. Each SOS box is assigned a unique number, facilitating swift identification and response when activated.

In the event of an emergency, a road user can press the emergency call button on the SOS box, which automatically activates an integrated camera. The device then establishes instant communication with the call centre located on JLB Road in Mysuru.

Apart from alerting the control room, the system also notifies ambulance and patrolling vehicles, ensuring a rapid response to the emergency. Authorised personnel promptly receive an alert message containing the specific SOS box number, streamlining the rescue process.

An impressive feature of this system is its independence from the need for an internet signal. This means that even in areas with poor network connectivity on the Expressway, commuters facing danger, panic or distress can directly speak to the control rooms without relying on mobile phones or worrying about low battery levels.

This self-sufficiency enhances the reliability of the SOS boxes in critical situations.

MP regrets commercialisation of medical practice

Dr. Lakshminarayan, his wife feted

Mysuru, July 26 (BLU&DM)- Chamarajanagar MP V. Sreenivasa Prasad has bemoaned that the medical profession, which was a service minded and noble profession, is now getting commercialised.

He was speaking after releasing 'Narayana Namana,' a felicitation volume dedicated to noted city doctor Dr. V. Lakshminarayan, at a programme organised by Dr. V. Lakshminarayan Felicitation Committee at Ganabharathi in Kuvempunagar here on Sunday.

Observing that at a time when all professions are getting commercialised, Prasad said that Dr. Lakshminarayan upheld the dignity of the profession and served as a Doctor of the common man.

Noting that Dr. Lakshminarayan had provided health care to literary doyen Kuvempu for ten years, the MP recalled the service of Dr. Lakshminarayan when he (Prasad) was airlifted to Bengaluru when he fell seriously ill while serving as Union Minister over two decades ago. This is one of the many examples of Dr. Lakshminarayan's commitment, dedication and determination and humanity, he said.

Stating that Dr. Lakshminarayan, who hailed from a remote village in Kolar, completed his education and started his medical profession in Mysuru, the MP said that Dr. Lakshminarayan's family members had to sell off their land for payment of fees and other expenses. But despite coming up the hard way, Dr. Lakshminarayan never forgot his past and continues to serve the profession.

Recalling his long political journey, Prasad said that he would be completing 50 years of electoral politics on Mar. 17, 2024 and during this long journey in politics, he never had a black spot. "I have contested 14 elections thus far since 1974. During this long period, I never compromised on my commitment. I never aspired for power, money and other positions. I have already announced my political retirement after this current term as MP ends next year," he said while reiterating that he never compromised on his principles or public commitment.

MLA T.S. Srivatsa said that Dr. Lakshminarayan was known to persons from every field. He was one of the few medical practitioners who had a motherly heart. He lauded the services of Dr. Lakshminarayan to the medical profession.

Senior BJP leader Raghu Kautilya said that Dr. Lakshminarayan is an outstanding medical practitioner who never aspired for money and rendered public service in accordance with his conscience.

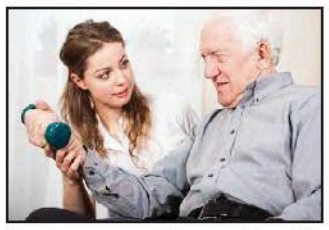
Former Kuvempu University Vice-Chancellor Prof. K. Chidananda Gowda, writers Dr. H.V. Nagaraj Rao, Dr. Preeti Shubhachandra and Kalkundi Naveen too spoke. Former District Kannada Sahitya Parishat President N. Girigowda read out Suttur Mutt Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji's message.

Dr. Lakshminarayan and his wife Lakshmidevi were felicitated on the occasion. Former Kuvempu Bhasha Bharathi Chairman Dr. Pradhan Gurudatta presided. Senior Journalist Ravindra Bhat delivered the felicitation address.

RSS leader M. Venkatram, Dr. D.K. Rajendra, B.V. Sridhar, Mahima Srinivas, Prof. C.K. Renukacharya, Dr. MGR Urs, Dr. Neelagiri Talwar and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Ameliorate



Pronunciation: uh-MEE-lee-uh-rayt.
Meaning: Ameliorate is a formal word that means "to make something, such as a problem, better or more tolerable."
Origin: Ameliorate traces back to melior, a Latin adjective meaning "better," and is a rather formal synonym of the verbs better and improve. When is it better to use ameliorate? Allow us to improve your understanding: if a situation is bad, ameliorate indicates that the conditions have been made more tolerable. Thus, one might refer to medicine that ameliorates pain from an injury, a loss of wages ameliorated by unemployment benefits, or a harsh law ameliorated by special exceptions. Improve and better apply when something bad is getting better or being made better (as in "the weather improved" or "she bettered her lot in life"), and they should always be chosen over ameliorate when something good is getting better still ("he improved his successful program," "she bettered her impressive scores").
Example: "With many institutions embracing diversified forms of student enrollment, we believe that colleges and varsities must be able to evaluate the experiences of all their students if they are going to truly embrace equity. To achieve this, leaders must ... strategically act to ameliorate any differences across student groups. While this might seem... obvious, our research revealed that not many colleges are presently engaging in such comparisons." —Joshua Travis Brown & Joseph M. Kush, Inside Higher Ed.

THE ODD WORD

Absterge

Wipe clean; expunge; purge; purify.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Against the Clock

Meaning: To indicate that you are in a race with time.
Origin: The origin of the expression 'Against the clock' is American, and it is believed to come from the mid-20th century, when timed sports gained popularity. If you do something against the clock, you do it as fast as possible and try to finish it before a certain time. When people do something against the clock, the time they take to do it is recorded, in order to find which person or attempt is the fastest. The term comes from various sports in which the contestants do not directly compete against each other but instead are timed individually, the winner being the one who is fastest.
Example: "Hurry up! We're working against the clock here!"
